PROFILE

As a passionate filmmaker and visual professional, I've discovered the world of visual storytelling and execution within the film industry. Collaborating closely with photography, cinematography, and creative direction, I make sure that creative concepts align with production goals and team initiatives.

With my background as a professional ski racer, I've learned to bring discipline and perseverance to both my personal and professional life. Throughout my 11 years of training and travel, interacting with people from all places of the globe, including the US, Europe, Asia, and more, I've been privileged to witness a unique stories and dreams. These experiences have open my passion for filmmaking and storytelling, driving me to share impactful stories with the world.
